

CONTENTS

Introduction	xi
Acknowledgments	xv
PART ONE TrendSpotting for the Novice	1
The Next Few Years Are All Wondrous	2
Mediocrity	6
Gumby: The Mascot of 2011	14
The New Way to Say Shove It!	17
PART TWO The Caboodle: Advanced Trendspotting	21
Dive into Trends . . . and Believe in Them	22
Fad, Faddy, and Fattening Trends	29
Bolts from the Blue	32
The Decade Is Starting Anew—and Maybe the World Is Too: Paraphrasing Sondheim, What Else	37
Golly, Beav, Is There a Right Way?	40
Stay Informed by Depersonalizing	42
PART THREE Business of Selling, as Opposed to Shilling ..	45
Treat Me Right or You Won't Get My Money	46
The Biggest Picture: The Customer Is a Hyperaware King	50
Can an Athlete Really Be Trusted to Make Money for Us?	53
Lying: Is That Your Final Answer?	57
We Fib	60
Why Smart Sellers Can Spell Fnord: And Why It Really Matters	62
Yes—Sadly—Sprint Was Correct	68
Frito-Lay's Cholesterol Story	71

How to Major in Napping	74
Welcome to BAS: I'm Talking to You	80
Greet This: How a City Civility Campaign Ruined Friendliness	83
"46": The Middle Ages	85
The New Low in Business Etiquette: Stealing without Aplomb	88
Victoria's Secret's Mentality: How Cities Got Overtaken by Lingerie	91
Fred Trump and That Other Guy	95
Machiavellian Skin	99
The One-Word Chapter: What's the Mission of Every Company?	101
Sex and Snakes and Couch Jumping: How to Be Sure You're Not Selling to People Who Don't Buy during This Era of Attention-to-Noise Surplus Ratio. Otherwise Known as, "What's This? A Laermer Blog Post?"	102
CC, No No!	107
What Happens on TV Stays on TV: Building a Brand from Personal Experience	110
PART FOUR Techno-Centric	117
What's DAT, Exactly? Another Fabulous Analogy about Unnecessary Technology	118
Bacn and the Art of Communicating Later	121
Ah, My Identity: Take It at Your Own Risk	124
Give Me Some Couch Love, Babe, Yeah, Give It to Me, Oh, Oh	128
Battery Management Corp.: One Further Step in Our Quest for Power	131
Computer Is Gone—Is Life?	134
Heads in Air: The New Toy Won't Replace Our First Love	140
And Finally, EID (E-mail Is Death): Long Live New Mass Communication	144

	Sport Mail	148
	Hi-Tech: The New New and Improved	152
	Blog Anonymously and Lose Your Self—er, Your Cell	155
	The End of the Beta: You Just Got to Stop This Affair	161
PART FIVE	Entertain Your Diversions	165
	“Seriously, Just Being Nominated Is Enough”: Ah, Bullshit, Award-Show Overload	166
	The Game of Famous: A Case Study That Is Far from Hollywood	169
	And They All Lived Hollywood Ever After	174
	Serial Lifer	177
	Jennifer Lopez’s Antics: The J Down Lo	180
PART SIX	Make Media Your Friend (Then Make Bank) ..	185
	Watch and Learn	186
	The Black Eye of Memory: Media and Big Stories	189
	The Media Next Decade	196
PART SEVEN	The Language of Life	199
	One Potato, Two Potatoes Later	200
	Where Are the Phrases to Catch Us? Revival of “Fun Speak”	202
	Taking Responsibility for Your Words Is Not Just Good Psychology	208
	Living with Ed	216
PART EIGHT	Society with a Small “s”	221
	New Rule: You’re Not Freaking Cool Just Because You Say You Are	222
	How to Keep Nascent Trends from Dying on the Vine: How to Cope with Change, Too	229
	Looking vs. Searching	233
	Say You’re Gay and Induce a Yawn (or, “Gay for Play” Has Had Its Day)	236

Faith, Politics, and the Death of a President240

609.72, Minnesota Statutes 2006:

 The Oddest of Current Laws242

Demeaning the Presidency Has Brought Us Down245

Planned Layovers in America:

 An Article That Did Good248

Savvy Muscular Old People252

Teens Shall Remain Narcissistic

 (This Surprises You?)255

Thoughts about Generation Broke257

Gap of Mentoring (Generation Broke, Part 2)263

Work Personality–Life Personality Balance:

 Is Any Town Big Enough?265

The Truth about “Kidlessness” and the Future of Pals with a Little One between Them268

Ah, to Be Nice, Perchance to Dream273

PART NINE Epilogue and Other Chapters I Couldn’t Fit

Anywhere Else, so Stuck Them Here277

Terms I Made Up + Newfangled Future Speak278

Self Something or Other282

Good Morning Today Is January 21, 2011284

Top Seven Mistakes Small Businesses Make:

 A Guide to Saying WTF291

The Outro: An Epilogue Comprising

 Last Words, First Words, Wordiness294